for

Men and Women

Everybody will want to dress-up.

This year we feel that Easter is bringing a new birth to the world; time honored institutions and traditions have gone; new ideals of democracy have come. This same spirit has been carried over into clothes buying; it shows in the desire for new styles, fresh fabrics — something finer and better than usual.

These are the kind of clothes you'll find here, for both men and women—new styles, a variety to choose from—live ones and good values.

MEMORIAL ARCH IS ASSURED

MANY TOWNS HAVE REPORTED QUOTA'S RAISED. CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN SOON.

The Memorial Gateway at the Normal, to be erected in honor of the East Central men who went to war, is assured, according to information given out this morning by President J. M. Gordon. Kona-wa has already raised the part of the funds assigned to it. The city of Coalgate has also gone over the top in great shape, most of the school children contributing a small amount. Pontotoc county has almost raised its quota which was approximately half of the entire amount.

Mr. Gordon expects to have the construction of the gateway under way not later than the middle of May or the last of May at the very latest. He hopes for it to be completed this summer. It is the plan now to hold a celebration, dedicating the gateway and breaking the ground for the new building at the same time. With the great summer school in session, this can be made an occasion long to be remembered.

Mr. Gordon, as well as the other members of the faculty is delighted over the way the campaign to raise the funds for this memorial has been received and handled.

VICTORY LOAN IN FINE SHAPE

PROMINENT MEN VOLUNTEER; MUCH ENTHUSIASM IN EVIDENCE EVERYWHERE.

By the Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, April 18.—(Special.) — One-third of the counties in the state will go over the top on Volunteer Day in the Victory Liberty Loan, according to advices received this morning by N. R. Graham, state director.

"The state has never entered a campaign in better shape to go through in record time than for the Victory Loan. All county chairmen and workers are upon their toes and have already made rapid progress in many parts of the state, refusing to wait until Monday to begin the work of actual solicitation. In fact, it has become a one-day race in Oklahoma and even the larger cities which usually require from two to four days for permanent results, are aspiring to honors in this contest."

Senator R. L. Davidson, who was one of the sponsors of the Robertson good roads plan in the last legislature, today wired the state director that he was at the service of the State Victory Loan Committee and would go to any part of the state to which he was assigned on Monday and Tuesday.

Senator Hill has also volunteered his services. A few of the speakers on either side have failed to notify the state committee of their decision to take active part in the big loan drive.

Congressman Scott Ferris is speaking from a tank to large crowds at Enid today.

The State Victory Loan Committee today made formal complaint to the Tenth Federal Reserve Bank against the Western Union Telegraph service. Delays of five hours and more have been frequent in the delivery of press dispatches to the daily newspapers in Oklahoma and complaints filed locally have had but little effect.

PARIS, April 18.—The decision dissolving the marriage of Frank J. Gould and Miss Edith Kelly Gould was handed down Thursday in the civil court at Versailles. Mrs. Gould failed to appear but filed a claim for about half of Gould's fortune. The Paris edition of the New York Herald says it learns from Gould's attorney that the decree becomes absolute in a few months unless Mrs. Gould appears.

HUN TROOPS HOLD LIBAU

SURPRISE LETTISH CITY WHEN FEW DEFENDERS WERE THERE.

By the Associated Press
COPENHAGEN, April 18.—German and Baltic troops have forcibly seized the city of Libau and overthrown the Lettish government, according to advices received by the Lettish press bureau here. Lettish reserves in Libau were surprised by strong German forces Wednesday, the Germans disarming and internment them. Later the Germans arrested the Lettish minister of interior and several officials.

The surprise was possible because Lettish troops had been sent to the front while German-Baltic detachments had been brought back to Libau. The city is now held and patrolled by the Germans.

JEWS MASSACRED BY UKRAINIANS

PARIS, April 18.—Detachments of the command of General Petlura, the Ukrainian peasant leader, have been carrying out excesses against Jews in Galicia, according to information reaching the Polish National Committee here. At Husiatyn and Fastov, it is declared that 2,500 Jews were killed and wounded. At Papiarka, 250 were killed.

MATTER OF PRICE STABILIZATION

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 18.—President Wilson directed the industrial board of the Department of Commerce and Railroad Administration to re-open the discussion of price stabilization and endeavor to find common ground on which to agree. The president's action is accepted generally as meaning that the policy of stabilization of prices by agreed reductions from war levels will be considered.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR PARADE ALMOST COMPLETE. MONSTER CROWD TO BE HERE.

The great parade next Tuesday to welcome the soldiers, sailors and marines home is creating interest all over the county. Reports indicate that the town will be full of citizens who want to honor those who have returned from war and also those who are yet to come back. The parade is in charge of Capt. Chas. Orr, Mrs. Blaine Gilbreath and O. N. Walker of the Chamber of Commerce. The exact arrangement of the various parts of the parade have not yet been given out, but this will be announced either Saturday or Monday.

Hon. Luther Harrison will make the principal address, and will welcome back home those who have been in the service. The response will be given by Capt. Orr, who saw service in France and won many promotions while in the army. R. W. Simpson, chairman of the Victory Liberty Loan drive, announces that Lieut. Charlie C. Chauncey will likely fly over next week, the exact day not yet having been announced. The plane will be procured from Fort Sill, and Charlie will probably fly over every town in the county. This will be a great boost for the bonds, it is thought.

Lieut. Bostic Roddie is sick at Caruthers Field, Fort Worth, and cannot come to Ada to fly Tuesday as had been desired.

TREATY READY IN ONE WEEK

BIG FOUR IN SESSION. PLANNING TO BRING GERMAN TO TIME.

By the Associated Press
PARIS, April 18.—With the return of Premier Lloyd George, British premier, from his visit home for his House of Commons address, the Council of Four, comprising the British, French and Italian premiers and President Wilson resumed its deliberations today. The Big Four met in the Paris White House.

Drastic Measures Planned.
PARIS, April 18.—Military experts under the direction of Marshal Foch, have been charged with drafting a report on what should be done in case Germany refuses to sign the peace treaty. It is indicated that the methods of coercion the allies would adopt in this case would include occupation of more German territory, blockade of enemy ports and discontinuance of food shipments.

The troublesome controversy over Fiume and the Dalmatian coast has aroused public sentiment in Italy and when the Italian parliament meets April 24 Premier Orlando will be asked for a report on the subject. This fact is expected to force the matter to decision soon between Italy and Jugo-Slavia.

According to plans the allied peace terms may not be laid before the Germans before Saturday of next week and it may be Monday before they see the treaty they will be asked to sign.

This is expected to delay proceedings to some extent as it is not expected that the Germans can go to Weimar, receive instructions and return to Paris before May 8. The German delegates will be permitted to ask some questions to elucidate obscure points but nothing approaching a discussion of the terms will be permitted.

Premier Clemenceau who Wednesday refused to agree in joint feeding of Russia through neutrals has attached his name to the undertaking.

Telegraphic communication between Berlin and Munich, the Bavarian capital, has been severed and Bamberg is also cut off from the German capital. The dispatches do not give the reason for this interruption.

Forests of the Caucasus.
The forests of the Caucasus in Russia are estimated at 12,000,000 acres, chiefly in the Black sea territory, which is at the rate of nearly twenty acres to each inhabitant. The forests of western Siberia have been scarcely explored, but they are stated to be 200,000,000 acres in extent, more than half being in an absolute state of nature.—Rocky Mountain Herald.

Teachers' Examination.
An examination for teachers' certificates will be held at Ada April 24-25 and 26.—A. Floyd, County Supt.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE EASTER, 1919

Somewhere in France, the Easter violets blooming
Breathe o'er his grave the incense of my love;
Somewhere in France the stars shine through the glooming
Fond eyes of angels watching from above.

Somewhere in France all that I had is sleeping.
Treasure of heart and jewel of my soul!
Somewhere in France, I cannot see for weeping
Even his writing, grief beyond control.

Somewhere in France, O Christ, salvation's Captain.
Order him home—he's dying, sick and faint!
Somewhere in France, he is dead—his body wrapped in
Liberty's flag, no answer to my prayer!

Somewhere in France, and this is Easter morning,
My breaking heart can raise no hymn of praise;
Somewhere in France, shall flowers for Christ's adorning
Glow from the stones of grief's down-trodden ways?

Somewhere in France, and yet my bitter crying
Wakes a faint echo like a distant chime;
Somewhere in France I hear faith's bells replying,
Falling like music from the towers of time.

Somewhere in France, along the eastern heavens,
Hang with the pall of battle smoke and grim,
Somewhere in France a shining pledge is given,
Morning is dawning, silent and sublime.

Somewhere in France men's souls have burst their prison;
Somewhere in France Christ comes again to earth
Somewhere in France, 'tis true our Lord is risen!
Somewhere in France a better hope has birth.

Somewhere in France, I have no bitter yearning
To bring him thence, to hold him for my own;
Somewhere in France today he is returning;
Somewhere in heaven now he has come home!

Opprobrium Given Crucifixion Plant Has Many Reasons

THERE is a popular belief in the Old World that the crown of thorns placed on the Savior's head was derived from a certain species of euphorbia, which, when grown nowadays in botanical gardens, is often trained into the form of a thorny crown fastened upon a cross.

The "crucifixion plant," as it is called, has no leaves worth mentioning, save at the tips of its branches. All the rest of it is mainly thorns.

The Crucifixion Plant.

But the oddest thing of all about it is that, when cut with a knife, drops of red juice resembling blood exude from it. No wonder, then, that in the Old World where religion and superstition so frequently merge, it should be regarded with awe.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of purgative, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

RESURRECTION

IF Christ to earth had never borne
The message of the Easter morn:—

Well might the fields, stripped brown and bare,
Torn by the plow's relentless share,
Rasped by the harrow's tearing teeth,
(Yet guarding still the seed beneath)
A sullen, cold resentment feel
At the sharp driving of the steel;
Not knowing when the pain was past
What Easter flowers would bloom at last.

Well might the body, bent with age,
Or where the deeper passions rage,
Racked with disease, disgrace or sin,
(Yet guarding still the soul within)
In its blind agony of shame
Blaspheme the great Creator's name;

Not seeing there—beyond the gloom—
The Angel and the Empty Tomb.

Well might the world in that dark hour,
Crushed by a cruel tyrant power,
Through wildest storm and blackest night,
(Yet keeping Freedom's spark alight)
Cry out from every bloodstained sod,
"There is no light, no life, no God!"
Did we not know that Calvary's way
Led to the Resurrection Day.

Oh, if our vision bounded were
By the three crosses planted there
On the bleak hill of Calvary—
If that were the last sight men see—
If Christ to earth had never borne
The message of the Easter morn—
All that we see or think or seem
Is but the fabric of a dream!

THE RISEN CHRIST

Easter Always Anniversary of De- liverance of Wonderful Message of Hope.

THE joy of the Christian soul is expressed at Easter in such a volume of song as rises upon no other day of the year. In the wealth of flowers that adorn altars, in the music of choirs and the praise of the children in their exercises are found the manifestation of the joy of hearts overflowing with the happiness of a renewed hope of life. It is the anniversary of the deliverance of the greatest message of hope the world has ever received, summed up in the three little words: "He Is Risen." It is the Christian "victory day"—Easter.

Most men everywhere at all times have had some sort of idea of immortality. It seems to be an inherent quality in humankind. The doctrine of the resurrection is not an entirely new one. Even the pagan before us had a glimpse of the truth and was moved to recognize it in his own way. Nature herself proclaims the doctrine and in every bursting bud of spring-time and the new songs of the birds we read a confirmation of our belief in a future life. Nature rejoices along with men in a realization of the glory of life, for that which was dead is alive again.

Brought Light to World.

But while we see in nature the symbols of the great truth of the resurrection and delight in the pleasing processes of the breaking forth of new life in the natural world, the Christian has something deeper and more firm than nature upon which to base his belief of immortality. The materialist may seek to read his future in the natural world, but the Christian derives his chief hope from a different source, a source no less than the message from God himself. When Jesus broke the bonds of death and became "the first fruits of them that slept" He at the same time became the hope of all humanity. Before Him, the way was dark and shrouded in mystery, but on that first Easter morning He threw a flood of light upon the gates of eternity, which illumined the way for all and settled the question of immortality forever.

It is but natural that the anniversary of such a day should be celebrated with various manifestations of joy, but amid the songs and the flowers and the pageantry of our celebrations the great motive of the day should not be lost sight of. Things that minister to the esthetic sense should not be allowed to overshadow the appeal to the spirit. If Easter brings no heartening message to a soul wearied with worldly cares, no new inspiration to take hold of the things worth while with a firmer grip, no new feeling of citizenship in the eternal, our songs and flowers and pomp and pageantry, however beautiful, are of momentary value.

Divine Easter Message.

The message that Easter brings to the individual has a very direct bearing upon his life, for what one believes about the future life may largely determine his character, and even his eternal destiny. One may even go further and say what a nation believes about the hereafter determines the character of its government in its practical dealing at home and abroad, and the character of the national life. The man or nation that is not restrained by the feeling that there is another world in which there will be a higher justice and a continued life of some sort, is dangerous.

Passing over the strictly religious element in the resurrection of Christ momentarily, let us remember that history was made on that first Easter morning. When the devoted women went down to the tomb of the Lord upon their mission of love, it was given to them to hear the announcement from an angel that was to turn the tide of history and to give impetus to the movement of uplifting men that is still gathering force today. Jesus was a great teacher and He gave to the world His best principles and precepts. But there have been other good teachers of morals and religion, and who knows but that His teachings would not have perished with Him if He had not risen from the dead and become the living inspiration for the millions who were to come after him. Herein lies the distinctive difference between Christ and other teachers and between Christianity and other codes of morals and religion. Christian worship is directed toward a person and does not consist in veneration of a dead leader and slavish adherence to a rule of life or set of regulations. Above all Christianity is not a philosophy, but a life, drawing its inspiration from a living Christ, and having a universal appeal because it speaks the language of love.

Religion Imperishable.

Such a religion can not be "beaten." It has all the qualities of the imperishable, and so long as the church maintains steadfast its belief in the resurrection it can not be conquered by all the hosts of evil.

The resurrection of Christ was the supreme victory of the ages, and not even was the overwhelming defeat of the Hun hosts battling on the western front a greater one. For we may say that if Jesus Christ had not lived and died as He did and had not risen from the dead and had not inspired the men of the great free nations of the world with the love of humanity, of human brotherhood and justice, there would be none to sacrifice themselves today against the most powerfully organized system of greed and inhumanity the world has known.

The hope inspired by the resurrection of Christ has lifted the nations gradually but surely out of the welter of selfishness. If there were no future we might as well not make the sacrifices, and the strongest might go his way as in the brute world.

Not since the early days of the church has the doctrine of the resurrection and the future life been so strongly vindicated as in the present time when millions of free men voluntarily gave up their lives for the great Christian principles underlying the establishment of free nations. Rushing in to do their duty, they calmly trusted the future to God. Fatalism could never make the fight for liberty and justice that civilization is making today. Only the Christianity of the resurrected Christ is capable of inspiring the effort.

It was a great day for the world when the angelic choir announced to shepherds the birth of the Savior, but it was a greater day when this same Savior rose victorious over the grave and gave to mankind the hope that has carried them onward and upward and will continue to bear them as they approach to the perfection of their Master.

Eggs at Easter.

The use of Easter eggs is common to all Christendom, and seems to be a symbolic tradition of the primitive church. It is explained in various ways. The most probable theory is that because of the phenomenon of hatching it was chosen as a symbol of the resurrection. At first the Easter eggs were taken to the temple and blessed by the priest, and then distributed to one's friends and family. But after awhile they came to stand merely for a festival, when they could eat the eggs that had been denied them during Lent. It is impossible to say when the first mention is made of Easter eggs.

Only One Possible Life Giver.

It is certain that a strong belief in the resurrection was the chief strength of the early church and its preaching encouraged the early converts to endure all things. "A dead Christ might have been a teacher and wonder worker, and remembered and loved as such. But only a Risen and Living Christ could be the Savior, the Life and the Life Giver to all men."

ter symbol because it typified the fruitfulness of nature. The egg was selected as an emblem of Easter celebration because it contains the germ of life and is therefore typical of the revival of life at the beginning of the growing season. The lily bulb, like the egg, contains the germ of life and means of growing within itself, and accordingly is appropriate, carrying as it does the additional symbol of purity.

RABBIT AS EASTER SYMBOL

With the Egg, It Has Always Been Associated as Appropriate to the Season.

Easter originally was an oriental feast in honor of the coming spring, or the rebirth of the year. The rabbit is noted for its prolific offspring, and that animal was chosen as an Easter

Bird Records on Phonograph Bring Unsavory Visitors.

Luring animals by means of phonograph music has been successfully used by certain trappers, but, according to the May Popular Mechanics Magazine, this may sometimes have its unpleasant side. A summer resident of the Michigan woods set his phonograph on the cottage porch to playing records of bird songs. It is well known that skunks have a decided fondness for birds' eggs, and it was not long until a furry audience was gathered outside. Naturally the concerts were discontinued.

ST. PAUL proves the Resurrection from the historical fact and by the absurdity which follows from denial of it; and then he shows that so proved it is only parallel to a thousand daily facts by the analogies which he draws from the dying and upspringing corn, and from the diverse glories of the sun, and moon, and stars. Let us distinguish, therefore, between the relative value of these arguments. We live, it is true, in a world filled with wondrous transformations, which suggest to us the likelihood of our immortality. The caterpillar passes into the butterfly, the snowdrop dies to rise again, spring leaps to life from the arms of winter, and the world rejoices in its resurrection. God gives us all this merciful assistance to our faith. But it is not on these grounds that our belief rests. These are not our proofs; they are only corroborations and illustrations; for it does not follow with certainty that the body of man shall be restored because the chrysalis, an apparent corpse, still lives. No; we fetch our proofs from the Word of God, and the nature of the human soul; and we fetch our probabilities and illustrations from the suggestive world of types which lies all around us.—F. W. Robertson.

ALL LOVE EASTER

World a Unit in That, but Writer Asserts There Are Various Reasons for It.

THE world loves Easter because it answers the cry of an inner need. That cry is by no means always religious, as some suppose. It springs from various motives. To some it is merely the response of returning spring. To others it answers the call of fashion. Most people save their consciences that they are answering the call of the inner religious life. No doubt Easter day furnishes the occasion for all that's done in its name, but much of the Easter performance has as much heathenism as Christianity in it. Of course you'll holler and protest that it isn't so. But your old uncle is willing to let the facts speak in the matter. The reason we find it so hard to see the truth is that custom has made the whole Easter show respectable.

Your Uncle Ben finds no fault with the desire of the fair sex to look as fair as the lily and be twice as attractive. But the trouble is he can't always see the beauty in many of the creations that are thought to be so. People forget that features differ. Not every one can wear the same shaped hat. They don't want a hat like anybody else. But it must conform to Dame Fashion's order no matter how hideous it makes the wearer. The colors may scream and the feathers may flare, but if that's the mode there is no room for argument. So when the fair creature has donned the armor of latest creation she sallies forth to bewilder the spectators and enjoy the thrills of admiring (?) glances. That's one reason why the world enjoys Easter.

But the heart knows deeper calls than dress. The world has much of sadness in it. Few homes have not felt the touch of the grim reaper. He is no respecter of persons. All ages and conditions of men answer the call. There is the first torrent of recollection and private sorrow. To such there is great relief in thoughts of Easter. The very earth seems to speak a message of hope. In early morn comes the bird song. With peep of day the smiling sun lights the budding trees and green fields. Here and there venturesome little flowers peep through the winter's refuse. They all tell of new life. They help make the sad heart lighter.

To such Easter is the assurance of unexperienced promises. Something deep in their hearts tells them that there is much to live for. The Easter message is the only word that brings real comfort. It tells of victory. No wonder they go to the Lord's house to hear again the story of the Resurrection. In spite of the scoffs of critics, in the face of all the skillful attempts to explain the great Easter mystery of the empty tomb, they find joy in recounting that conquest of the grave so many years ago. At the house of praise they hear it in every hymn and prayer. The message is the theme on every lip that comes to worship. Their own hearts begin to rejoice as the truth becomes real and they realize that they who have gone before shall live again.—"Uncle Ben" in Grit.

Symbol of Easter Day. A little lad, tired and worn at the close of the day, after a long struggle with the solution of a problem cried himself to sleep. While he slept the father with rapid strokes of the pen rewrote the problem, with its correct solution, on a clean tablet. Opening his eyes, a look of gladness brightened the little fellow's face as he saw the neatly worked out problem in the place of the dirty, tear-stained paper over which he had fallen to sleep. Easter day contains the promise for us of the Master's perfect life, to which we shall awaken after we have closed our eyes to the human, imperfect, tear-stained product of our own endeavors.

WATER WORKS MAN GIVES OUT FACTS

After Searching for Years He at Last Finds Medicine That Ends Troubles.

"I have been trying for years to get something that would relieve me of my troubles and have found it at last in Tanlac," said Alfred Jolly, of 3291 Quitman St., Denver, Colo., and an employee of the water works department of that city.

"For a long time," he continued, "my stomach was in such an awful fix that I could eat hardly a thing without being in misery afterwards. Even the lightest foods would bloat me up with gas and I was constantly belching up sour, undigested food that at times would almost choke me, and often I would get so dizzy and light headed that I would almost fall down, and I would get so nervous that it was almost impossible for me to rest at night. I suffered agony from rheumatism and was in such a wretched condition that I was hardly fit for a thing."

"After trying nearly everything I could hear of I took Tanlac, and it sure hit the spot and has made a different man of me. My appetite is splendid, my nerves steady, I sleep like a log at night, have gained eight pounds and am in better shape than I have been in years."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co. (Adv.)

Man Is a Failure—

When he has no confidence in himself nor his fellow men.

When he values success more than character and self-respect.

When he loves his own plans and interests more than humanity.

When his friends like him for what he has more than for what he is.

When he becomes so absorbed in his work that he cannot say that life is greater than work.

When he lets a day go by without making some one happier and more comfortable.

When he tries to get ahead in the world by climbing over the shoulders of others.

When he values wealth above health, self-respect and the good opinion of his fellows.

When he is so burdened by his business that he can find no time for rest and recreation.

When he envies others because they have more ability, talent or wealth than he has.

When he does not care what happens so long as he is prosperous.

When he is so busy doing work that he has no time for smiles and cheering words.

OLD RESIDENT GIVEN UP BY PHYSICIANS

"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation, I rebelled on cutting me open, as I am 75 years old. A neighbor advised trying May's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was as yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. The cost of installing electricity is soon repaid in the economy that is yours in the use of the many convenient electrical appliances.

So don't wish any longer for electricity in your home—HAVE IT. The time to act in the matter is RIGHT NOW.

Like Ishmael of old the hand of the bolshevik is against every man and every man's hand is against him. Just now this element is waging war against the world, facing the allies at Archangel and Odessa, the Poles and other nationalities along the western border, the Czech-Slovaks and allies in Siberia, besides many factions in Russia and Siberia, and now comes the report that an attack on Finland is being planned. Besides this the Reds engineered a successful revolution in Hungary, stirred up a lot of trouble in Germany and are trying to do the same thing in other countries. The conquest of the world is a big job, but Lenin and Trotsky feel equal to the occasion.

NAME DERIVED FROM SAXON

Easter Known to Have Been a Celebration Time of the Heathen Goddess Ostara.

Not until the early sixties did the Presbyterians take note of Easter. And New England was the last section of our country to bend—or unbend—in the direction of the Easter celebration. The name Easter, which is in use only among the English and German speaking peoples, is undoubtedly derived from that of the heathen Saxon's goddess, Ostara, Ostere or Eastre. She was the personification of the East, of the spring and of the morning, the month of April being dedicated to her and called "Easter-month" by the Saxons and Angles. It is still called in Germany Ostermonat. Yet Easter sometimes falls in March, as the church calendar prescribes that it shall fall upon the first Sunday after the fourteenth day of the moon that happens to reign at the vernal equinox, which is March 21. One writer says:

"Non-Teutonic nations cling to the Semitic word derived from the Aramaic word pesach, 'to pass by,' which has been translated into English as Passover. In England the Semitic form survives in many terms applicable to the season, as pass flower, paschal lamb and pasch, pace or pase eggs. These terms remind us that our Christian festival is the successor to the Jewish Passover, while the word Easter carries us back through the Saxons to the more ancient celebrations which from the earliest ages of man have expressed the universal outburst of rejoicing over the reawakening of nature after the long sleep of winter."

Personal Easter Gift.

The giving of photographs at the Eastertide is a custom that is becoming established in America, although the idea seems to have come from abroad. The idea is to "go and get took," then send the photograph to your friends with a little note of Easter greeting.

Found His Stories in Dreams.

Human dreams are instinct with imagination, as is shown by the case of the romance R. L. Stevenson, who asserted that he had so trained his dreaming mind by self-suggestion that it furnished him with the conception of some of his best stories. Anybody who can do that may make a mine of his dreams.

When Traveling.

In preparing a lunch for a journey, bake the bread in empty baking powder cans. After sifting and spreading, replace it in the cans, put on the covers, and the bread will be as fresh at the end of the trip, though it may be several days, as it was when first packed.

Not a Bad Old Custom.

Until recent years there was a most respectable old inn in Warwickshire, England, the proprietor of which was accustomed to invite all his patrons to accompany him and his wife Sunday mornings to a church directly opposite the inn. On returning from service each customer was expected to partake of refreshments offered by the hospitable landlord free of charge.

Pretty Custom of Giving Easter Eggs Is Centuries Old

THE CUSTOM of giving eggs as Easter presents, though very ancient and widely popular in Europe, is comparatively new in this country. It has had remarkable developments within the last few years.

Thus, an American millionaire gave his small son a pony carriage made in the shape of an egg, on wheels, covered on the outside with white lacquer and lined on the inside with white satin.

A South African diamond king not long ago had an Easter egg made to hold the trousseau of his bride. It was nine feet long.

Not less extraordinary was an Easter egg made by a Paris establishment for a Spanish infant. Though of no great size, it cost $4,000, being of white enamel and containing a mechanical bird that sang a dozen songs from popular operas.

Confectioners in American cities at Easter time sell immense numbers of candy eggs, as well as egg-shaped boxes, satin-covered or otherwise designed, for holding bonbons.

Eggs of silver and gold are made to contain gifts; and the jewelers offer beautiful jewel boxes shaped like eggs, for Easter presents, some of them ornamented with precious stones.

The ornamentation of Easter eggs with elaborate designs and figures of saints was an important branch of art in the monasteries of the middle ages. These were real eggs, and after being blessed, were eaten on Easter Sunday.

The ancient Egyptian looked upon the egg as a symbol of the creation. Among the Israelites of old it was regarded as emblematic of their emergence from bondage. The Christians adopted it as symbolic of the Resurrection.

Did Lulu Get It?

THE EASTER LILY.

When Easter bells began to ring
And Easter day arose
An angel found beside the church
A wreath of winter snows.
The April sun had failed to melt
The tiny drift away,
And, sparkling coldly in the light,
Still frozen hard it lay.

The angel took the frosty flakes,
And tenderly he wrought,
With loving care and patience rare,
The blossom of his thought.
Each perfect petal grew apace,
And last of all, behold,
He fashioned, full of rich perfume,
A heart of gleaming gold.

With dreams of shining robes he worked
And golden gates ajar
And shaped the fair and finished flower
In memory of a star;
Then, gliding in the ancient church,
Where all was dark and still,
Upon the crimson altar cloth
He laid the Easter lily.

—Minna Irving.

Easter Eggs of Flowers.

Today not only the size of the Easter egg, but also the value of its contents play an important part, at least in America. Thus, it is not rare that an insignificant looking chocolate egg contains as a precious surprise the costliest jewels, such as earrings, bracelets, etc. Not long ago the pretty fashion came in vogue of making Easter eggs of flowers, so arranged as to reproduce exactly the oval form of the egg. For this purpose violets and roses are commonly used, but in recent times orchids are being preferred, especially in England. Thus, a few years ago a London florist got an order for an Easter egg of orchids, costing no less than $1,000.

LESSON FOR APRIL 20

THE RISEN LORD.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 28:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—He is risen, as he said.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Luke 24:1-7.
CORINTHIANS 15:1-8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—An angel tells about the resurrection of Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The glory of an empty tomb.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—The living Christ.
SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The meaning of Christ's resurrection.

I. The Visit of the Women to the Sepulcher (28:1).
They came early to see the sepulcher. Their zeal and love exceeded that of even Peter, James and John. "Women were last at the cross and first at the tomb."

II. The Earthquake (28:4).
This occurred when the glorious angel descended to roll the stone away from the tomb. This work of the angel was not to allow Jesus to escape but to show that the tomb was empty. Christ needed not the help of a glorious angel, for he was raised up by his own power as the seal of his atoning work upon the cross. The open tomb and the angel sitting upon the stone with calm dignity is a picture of God's triumph over the devil, and the terror of the keepers is a sample of what all of Christ's enemies shall one day experience when he comes in glory to reign as king.

III. The Angel's Message to the Women (28:5-7).

1. "Fear not" (v. 5). While the enemies have occasion to fear, those who love the Lord receive good news from the empty tomb. The Lord will not long leave those who follow him, in suspense and dread. The empty tomb puts an end to all doubts and fears. It is the proof that the question of sin is dealt with and that God is satisfied, carrying with it the assurance of eternal victory.

2. "Come see" (v. 6). The angel said that the Lord had risen, and vited the women to see the place where he lay.

3. "Come quickly" (v. 7). The women must see for themselves and then go tell the message. Experience must precede testimony. They were to go quickly to the disciples with the blessed message, with the assurance that the Lord would go before and meet them.

IV. Jesus Meets the Women (28:10).

The women rendered instant obedience and were running to bring word to the disciples. Jesus met them on the way. Those who have an experimental knowledge of Christ should speedily go to tell others of it. To all such the Lord will appear and bring joy.

V. What Christ's Resurrection Guarantees to Us (1 Cor. 15).

1. The integrity of the Scriptures (vv. 3, 4). The Old Testament Scriptures told of the advent, death and resurrection of Christ. Christ's resurrection gave the seal of authentication to them. Christ rebuked the disciples on the way to Emmaus for their disbelief of the Scriptures concerning the resurrection (Luke 24:13-26).

2. The reality of the divine person (Rom. 1:4). Jesus claimed to be one with the Father. He predicted his coming forth from the dead (Matt. 16:21). He declared that no one could take his life from him. He had power to lay his life down and take it up again (John 10:15-18). He died because he willed to do so. The life which he laid down must be resumed at the completion of his sacrificial work. His coming forth from the grave proved that he was what he had claimed to be.

3. The sufficiency of Christ's atoning sacrifice (Rom. 4:25). On the cross Christ exclaimed, "It is finished." By the resurrection God declared to the universe that an adequate remedy for sin had been provided. The resurrection of Christ is God's certificate that an adequate sacrifice has been provided for sin.

4. Our life and immortality (1 Cor. 15:20). He is the first fruits of them that slept. "Because I live ye shall live also." The guarantee that man in the integrity of his being spirit, soul and body shall live again is furnished us in Christ's death and resurrection.

Promoting Happiness.

God has given understanding to man, to be employed for his glory in promoting the happiness of his creatures; and in nothing that belongs to earth can the human understanding be more worthily employed than in the researches of science and in the works of invention.—Chief Justice Chase.

Absorbing the Bible.

Reading God's Word is one thing; to look at it in the right light is another. It is like this: A man may see the figures on the dial, but he cannot tell how the day goes unless the sun shines on the dial. So, also, in reading the Bible—unless the spirit shines within our hearts it is likely that we will not get the correct interpretation.

Lord Never Forgets.

"The Lord never forgets anyone because he is little."

Flowers Express Essential Feeling of Joyous Easter

"The altar is snowy with blooms. The font is a vase of perfume. On pillar and chancel are twining Fresh garlands of eloquent bloom!"

ALL the churches are decorated for the festival after Resurrection; and the lily, emblem of purity, sweetness, and grace combined, is the favorite flower for decoration.

Flowers voice the essential feeling of Easter. Each fragrant blossom is the fulfillment of a divine promise. For the perennial miracle of an awakened earth is in full harmony with the aspiring note of religion reiterating its faith in the promise of a new life.

Flowers, like music, speak the language of the heart. They are capable of conveying the most personal and individual ideals while yet appealing to a common universal vision and imagination.

This characteristic of flowers fits them especially both to express the private affections of the giver and enrich the symbolism of the altar. A basket or a cross of flowers can say all the heart wishes to say and say it without obtruding personal feeling.

In medieval times flowers spoke a definite language, the interpretation of which seems almost lost for a season. The palm, the classical symbol of victory, was early taken as the symbol of martyrdom. It was outlined on the tombs of the early martyrs, and it was placed in the hands of those who suffered in the cause of truth, to express their final victory over the powers of sin and death.

Roses, white and red voice innocence and love. The Madonna was the "Rose of Sharon." A wreath of roses is placed upon the brow of St. Cecilia. Roses and fruit are borne by St. Dorothy. A white anchor of camellias, with its top a cross, expresses faith and hope.

The lily has long been regarded as expressive of purity. In Bermuda, the home of our Easter lily, all the roads are full of people, white and black, carrying lilies to the churches at dawn on Easter day. With them the doorways, altars and pulpits are decorated, and the graves are completely covered. Each lily and each Easter flower thus bestowed is vocal, like one of those old litanies that have descended to us from time immemorial, full of wholesome piety and charity—common prayer to all devout souls. The flowers are of yet older birth than the ancient prayers—primeval litanies before ever music was.

Their eloquence is growing on us from year to year, as we bring roses, lilies and other Easter flowers to dock the altars of God, to hallow with their perfume and beauty the resting places of the departed and to dedicate our homes to Christ with our bright, sweet, sacred emblems.

"Christ is risen with glad lips we utter,
And far up the infinite height
Archangels the golden ro-ro-ro
And crown him with lilies of light!"

The Lilies' Message

O, lilies, snow white lilies,
O, lilies, radiant, sweet,
Ye are angels trooping earthward
To kiss our Savior's feet.

One Famous Easter Egg.

The record in the size and cost of Easter eggs was broken by one given some time ago to a famous Parisian actress by one of her admirers. On Easter morning an immense van rolled into the courtyard of the house inhabited by the actress, and from the van rested a gigantic egg made of wood and decked with velvet. At the first moment the astonished lady did not know what to do with this amiable gift, but soon she noticed in the egg a door, and, upon opening it her eye fell upon a carriage with two fine horses and a coachman sitting motionless on the box.

It is my custom every night to run all over the words and actions of the past day; for why should I fear the sight of my errors when I can admonish and forgive myself? Easter Even

THE tempest over and gone, the calm begun.
Lo, 'tis finished," and the strong Man sleeps.
All stars keep vigil watching for the sun.
The moon her vigil keeps.
A garden full of silence and of dew
Beside a virgin cave and entrance stone;
Surely a garden full of angels, too.
Wondering, on watch alone
They who cry "Holy, holy, holy!" still.
Veiling their faces round God's throne above.
May well keep vigil on this heavenly hill
And cry their cry of love.
Adoring God in his new mystery
Of love more deep than hell,
More strong than death,
Until the day break and the shadows flee,
The shaking and the breath.

Good Reason Why Eggs Hold Place in Easter Feasts

FROM earliest times the egg has been the most significant feature of the Easter feasting. These were roasted eggs on the paschal table. "Pasch" eggs were sent to church to be blessed before being eaten at Easter.

The early Christian church forbade the eating of eggs during Lent, a custom which still obtains in Russia, where not only meat but all the products of the animal kingdom, such as eggs, milk, and cheese, are forbidden during the Lenten abstinence. Only acid rye bread and sour "Kvass" are partaken of by rich and poor alike—the czar and his family took the lead in the long fast. But after the fast comes the feast, and such feasting! Russian Easter dinner parties excel in luxury any elsewhere.

In the old days, when the Easter feast was young there was not so much knowledge of chemistry and physiology as now. Yet it was instinctively understood that a long fast must not be suddenly broken. In fasting, the body emaciates, and most of the secretions are greatly diminished; and following a fast the most nourishing and digestible foods are required. Instinct taught the ancients to turn at this time of feasting to eggs as a strong aid in replacing the waste of the human body. And it is a very interesting fact that eggs were regarded by the early Church as a blessed food after a fast.

"These blessed eggs have the virtue of sanctifying the entrails of the body, and are to be the first fat or fleshy nourishment they take after the abstinence of Lent."

This ancient ecclesiastical enjoiner of eggs at the Easter feast is significant when compared with the modern physiological view of the food value of eggs.

GREATEST OF ALL FACTS

Proof of Escape From the Bondage of the Tomb Brings Joy to the Christian.

Those who remember their Bible will easily turn to any of the Gospels, Luke for instance, and find in Chap. 24 that upon the first day of the week (Sunday) the friends came to the sepulcher and found the stone which had been in front of the opening rolled away, and no body in the tomb, and that two angels standing there asked: "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen." This is the outstanding fact to all believing Christians, and never has it come home to them with such moving significance as now, when a short time ago all the world seemed to stand face to face with death and its eternal problem of Life Everlasting.

All Customs Emblematic.

As commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ, Easter day is marked in all Christian countries by impressive religious ceremonies and joyous social customs. The latter are too varied to be described here, but all of them, including different forms of the Easter egg custom, are in a way emblematic of the event commemorated.

MISUNDERSTANDING OF ORDER HUMILIATES MEN

PARIS, March 29.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Grave injustice has been done to thousands of American soldiers constituting the Labor Battalions of the American Expeditionary force because of the manner in which publicity has been given to General Order No. 32 of the United States army in France, declares the Reverend Dr. Albert J. McCartney, moderator of the Chicago Presbytery, engaged in Young Men's Christian Association work in France.

The order directed that soldiers suffering from social diseases "shall be separated and assigned to provisional organizations retained for labor purposes in Europe." Dr. McCartney says it is unfortunate that "no attention has been called to the fact that this order is in no way intended to reflect upon the Labor Battalions properly so-called, which are a permanent and indispensable feature of the United States Army. 'The popular mind,' he adds, 'is likely to confuse the Labor Battalion feature of army life with the disciplinary labor referred to in General Order No. 32.'"

He declares that he recently spent some time with 7,000 men of one Labor Battalion, and they "are as fine and clean a set of fellows as you will find in the army and they sorely resent the reflection that the popular interpretation of General Order No. 32 has put upon them."

"One boy, for instance, has a letter from his mother stating that it has broken her heart to have disclosed to her the true reason for his detention in France." She had read in the papers that all men of a certain division were home except those detained as a disciplinary measure. "This is a plain crime against American homes and mother-hearts," declares Dr. McCartney.

6,000 AMERICAN SOLDIERS MARRY FRENCH GIRLS

PARIS, March 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—That Cupid was nearly busy as Mars with the members of the American Expeditionary Force and that romance bloomed in France in spite of war's alarms is shown by the fact that more than six thousand French women have been wooed and won by American soldiers within one year. The majority of the French girls who have become Americans through marrying men and officers of the American Expeditionary Force are stenographers, salesgirls or teachers with a sprinkling of peasant girls and those of the middle class or bourgeoisie.

The romance are in most cases very similar. A soldier would be billeted with a French family a member of which would be a girl of marriageable age. Together they would delve into the intricacies of the French language, sign language being promptly superseded by a combination of Anglo-French jargon.

The clean cut, healthy physique of the Americans, their politeness and generosity would appeal to the heart of the French girl who saw in the American the realization of her dreams. As a rule, the Americans also made no secret of the particular sympathetic feeling they had for the French girls and so as a natural sequence, marriage resulted.

Many such pairs now are puzzled whether the wife should accompany her husband to America or the husband should make his home in France. It is expected that fully fifty percent of the benedicts will adopt France for their future home.

HEAVY CROP OF RICE EXPECTED IN TEXAS

By the Associated Press
BEAUMONT, Tex., April 18.—Despite heavy rains that prevented harvesting of much of last year's rice crop, indications are that rice acreage this year will be larger than ever before. Two of the biggest canal companies in this section report that rice farmers have applied for more water for the next crop than the canal companies can furnish.

Neither rice millers nor growers have been able to compile exact figures on the rice milled this year. The rains interfered with harvesting to such extent that much of the crop remains to be threshed even while plowing is proceeding for the next crop. The late start will delay this year's crop at least three weeks according to E. A. Eignus, general manager of the Southern Rice Growers Association, which represents planters of Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Estimates, based on rice markets, the amount on hand and the amount still in the field, place the 1918 crop at about 2,000,000 bags less than the government's last estimate before harvesting began. This amount is taken to represent the planters' actual loss through extreme rains. Rice at present is worth about $8 a bag, making the monetary loss in the three states $16,000,000.

seen the light that leaped into her glorious eyes when I—
"Yes, I know. I've heard she is quite a pretty girl. You needn't—"
"Quite a pretty girl!" exclaimed Barnes. "Why, she is the loveliest thing that God ever created. She has the face of—"
"I am beginning to understand O'Dowd's interest in her, Mr. Barnes. He has probably fallen in love with her with as little difficulty as you have experienced, and almost as expeditiously. He has seen a little more of her than you, but—"
"Don't talk nonsense. I'm not in love with her."
"Can you speak with equal authority for Mr. O'Dowd? He is a very susceptible Irishman, I am told."
"I don't believe he will get much encouragement from Mr. Sprouse," said Barnes stiffly.

"If she is as clever as I think she is she will encourage him tremendously. I would if I were in her place. Mr. O'Dowd is only human. He isn't immune."
"I catch the point, Mr. Sprouse," said Barnes, rather gloomily. He did not like to think of the methods that might have to be employed in the subjugation of Mr. O'Dowd. "There is a rather important question I'd like to ask. Is she even remotely eligible to her country's throne?"
"Remotely, yes," said Sprouse.

"So remotely that she could marry a chap like O'Dowd without giving much thought to future complications?" he ventured.
"She'd be just as safe in marrying O'Dowd as she would in marrying you," was Sprouse's unsatisfactory response. The man's brow was wrinkled in thought. "See here, Mr. Barnes, I am planning a visit to Green, Fancy tonight. How would you like to accompany me?"
"I'd like nothing better," said Barnes, with enthusiasm.

"Will you agree to obey instructions? I can't have you muddling things up, you know."
"The grounds are carefully guarded," said Barnes, after they had discussed the project for some time. "Miss Cameron is constantly under the watchful eye of one or more of the crowd."
"I know. I passed a couple of them last night," said Sprouse calmly. "By the way, don't you think it would be very polite of you to invite the Green Fancy party over here to have an old-fashioned country dinner with you tonight?"
"It would be useless, Mr. Sprouse. They will not come."

"I am perfectly aware of that, but it won't do any harm to ask them, will it?"
Barnes chuckled. "I see. Establishing myself as an innocent bystander, eh?"
"Get O'Dowd on the telephone and ask him if they can come," said Sprouse.

"But there is Jones to consider. The telephone is in his office. What will he think?"
"Jones is all right," said Sprouse briefly. "Come along. You can call up from my room." He grinned slyly. "Such a thing as tapping the wire, you know."

Sprouse had installed a telephone in his room, carrying a wire upstairs from an attachment made in the cellar of the Tavern. He closed the door to his little room on the top floor.
"With the landlord's approval," he explained, pointing to the instrument, "but unknown to the telephone company, you may be sure. Call him up about half past ten. O'Dowd may be up at this ungodly hour, but not she. Now I must be off to discuss literature with Mrs. Jim Conley. The hardest part of my job is to keep her from subscribing for a set of Dickens. Conley's house is not far from Green, Fancy, Savvy?"

Barnes, left to his own devices wandered from taproom to porch from porch to forge, from forge to taproom, his brain far more active than his legs, his heart as heavy as lead and as light as air by turns. More than once he felt like resorting to a well-known expedient to determine whether he was awake or dreaming. Could all this be real?

Ten minutes later he was in Sprouse's room, calling for Green Fancy over an extension wire that had cost the company nothing and yielded nothing in return. After some delay O'Dowd's mellow voice sang out:
"Hello! How are you this morning?"

"Grievously lonesome," replied Barnes, and wound up a doleful account of himself by imploring O'Dowd to save his life by bringing the entire Green Fancy party over to dinner that night.
O'Dowd was heart-broken. Personally he would go to any extreme to save so valuable a life, but as for the rest of the party, they begged him to say they were sorry to hear of the expected death of so promising a chap and that, while they couldn't come to his party they would be delighted to come to his funeral. In short, it would be impossible for them to accept his kind invitation. The Irishman was so gay and good-humored that Barnes took hope.

"By the way, O'Dowd, I'd like to speak with Miss Cameron if she can come to the telephone."
"Don't be surprised if you are cut off suddenly. The coast is clear for the moment, but— Here, Miss Cameron, Careful now."

Her voice, soft and clear and trembling with eagerness, caressed Barnes' eager ear.

"Hello! How Are You This Morning?" will have to come from the outside, it will be dangerous—terribly dangerous—"
"You say O'Dowd will not assist you to escape?"
"He urges me to stay here and take my chances. He believes that everything will turn out well for me in the end, but I am frightened. I must get away from this place."

"Then keep your eyes and ears open for the next night or two. Can you tell me where your room is located?"
"It is one flight up; the first of the two windows in my room is the third to the right of the entrance. I am confident that someone is stationed below my windows all night long."

"You still insist that I am not to call on the authorities for help?"
"Yes, yes! That must not even be considered. Mr. Barnes. I am a very small atom in—"
"All right! We'll get along without them," he said cheerily. "Afterward we will discuss the importance of atoms."

"And your reward as well, Mr. Barnes," she said. Her voice trailed off into an indistinct murmur. He heard the receiver click on the hook, and after calling "hello" twice hung up his own with a sigh. Evidently O'Dowd had warned her of the approach of a less considerate person than himself.

FAMOUS RUSSIAN GENERAL SHOT BY BOLSHIEVIKI

By the Associated Press
VLADIVOSTOK, April 18.—General Mischenko, has been shot, according to a statement made to a member of the British Mission here by a Russian aviator who deserted from the Red Army in January and flew into the lines of Admiral Kolchak's army.

General Paul Ivanovitch Mischenko was a veteran of four wars. He fought through the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-8, in the Boxer fight in China in 1900-1, in the Russo-Japanese war and the world war of 1914.

He distinguished himself in the Russo-Japanese war and the world of brilliant operations as commander of a cavalry corps. Afterward he was governor-general of Turkestan and subsequently commander of the Don Cossacks. For his services in the world war he was decorated with the Order of Alexander Nevsky.

The First Wayfarer Accepts an Invitation.

Barnes insisted that the first thing to be considered was the release of Miss Cameron.

"If we can't think of any other way to get her out of this devilish predicament, Sprouse, I shall apply to Washington for help."

"And be laughed at, my friend," said the secret agent. "It is not a matter for the government to meddle in at all."

ADA MUST HAVE MORE WATER

MASS MEETING OF CITIZENS AGREED ON GRAVITY OF SITUATION.

That the city waterworks system is inadequate and that the supply must be increased, especially on the east side was the sense of the mass meeting called by the Chamber of Commerce held Thursday evening at the court house.

The meeting was presided over by F. McKeel who called on P. L. Finley to read a communication from the insurance-rate fixing bureau to Secretary O. N. Walker, in which it was stated that unless a better supply of water is forthcoming, the fire insurance rate of Ada will be raised in the very near future. This led up to expressions of opinion from a number present and agreed that the situation must be remedied. It was pointed out that the entire section of the city east of the Katy is served by a single four-inch line which has been inadequate for some little time and as the number of consumers increase in that section it becomes all the more impossible to supply the citizens. It was stated that in the summer time it is impossible to get water even for domestic use much of the time and that it is out of the question for those who live there to water their lawns and gardens. Another line to the business section of the city is badly needed.

It was also brought out that the present pumping facilities are unable to supply the water needed in summer time and that a booster pump located near the brick plant must be installed if the situation is remedied, the city having outgrown the waterworks system. It was also stated that Commissioner Deal will cut off the industries during the summer if necessary in order that the citizens may have a supply for domestic use.

Some one mentioned the matter of storm sewers and when Mayor Kitchens was called on for an expression of opinion on the entire situation, he stated that unless a storm sewer is built to handle the water on East Main, the city stands a good chance of having a big suit for damages on hand.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Jones, that the commissioners would welcome such action, the president of the Chamber of Commerce was directed to appoint a committee of five who would go over the matter of the city's needs and the cost.

On motion of B. Scrienbergh he was directed to appoint a committee on publicity whose duty it shall be to fully inform the people on the actual conditions and the necessary sity of remedying them, if Ada is to advance beyond its present proportions and the industries not be hampered for lack of water.

It was also suggested that the Ladies Auxiliary be asked to help out in the campaign, and this met with approval.

The meeting was very well attended and most of the boosters of the city were present.

Y. M. C. A. ACTIVE ON SIBERIAN FRONT

By the Associated Press

OMSK, Siberia, Feb. 10.—E. T. Heald, of Davenport, Iowa, who is in charge of the western district of the American Young Mens Christian Association work in Siberia, has returned to Omsk after a visit to the battle front and reports that the Y. M. C. A. is doing everything possible to lighten the hardships of the soldiers. Two American secretaries are working, he reports, at the fighting line. They are H. L. Tinkham, of Pennsylvania, who is at Ufa and C. W. Riley, recently graduated from Northwestern University at Chicago, who has a club car further north on the line. Mr. Riley brought the first Y. M. C. A. supply train out of Vladivostok.

Twenty-five American secretaries are now serving in the western Siberia zone and have organized twenty canteens. A general supply department is now being organized for the local purchase of butter, cheese and general dairy products for which Siberia is famous, but which the soldiers have difficulty in obtaining.

Methodist Meeting for Men Only.

Yes, some people are howling about me announcing that I would discuss next Sunday evening, April 20th, at 8:50 "The Social Evil," or "The Age Old Crime of Youth."

I wish to say that I am personally responsible for the announcement and will assume all responsibility for the utterances in which I may indulge.

If the people who are howling are too modest to attend the meeting, they had better send an accurate stenographer. Some of them need my message. I have a message I assure you. I have in my possession actual facts enough concerning conditions in Ada to make the devil turn green with envy and plan to move his place of business.

The "Scarlet Woman" is overshadowed in Ada by the tall form of the "Scarlet Man" and any doctor in the city can name a hundred women who are suffering untold insult at the hands of diseased-laden men.

A man on our streets can not fail to hear enough any day to establish a case in any court against men who exact high standards for their women folk but live like beasts themselves. You do not have to go to Chicago to find commercialized vice and the white slave.—Wallace M. Crutchfield, Pastor.

E. C. S. N. MEET IS UNDER WAY

BIG ATTENDANCE ASSURED. HUNDREDS ARE ALREADY HERE.

Ada is gradually filling up with young men and young women, who have come to take part in the annual track, field and literary meet held under the auspices of the East Central Normal. All the eleven counties are represented, and a total of twenty teams have entered the track and field events alone. Tennis and baseball started this afternoon at 1 o'clock and the preliminaries are to be played off before night. The finals in these two lines of sport will be played Saturday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock.

The preliminaries in the girls' reading, boys' reading, piano and basketball started at 2 o'clock and had not been finished at the time the News went to press. These will be completed before night, and the finals will take place in the auditorium this evening. The grammar school reading contest will take place in the auditorium Saturday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock.

Saturday morning at 11 o'clock the coaches will meet in the Normal library to iron out any wrinkles in the entries that have not been cleared up. At the same time the athletes to take part in the grammar school section of the track and field events will be weighed on the athletic field.

Three big features are yet to come, the literary and musical program this evening, the finals in basketball, tennis and baseball Saturday morning, and the track and field meet Saturday afternoon.

The entire attendance of the meet would not be determined at the time the News went to press, inasmuch as participants are still coming on every train. Many teachers came with the students, and the presence of these is swelling the total attendance. It is almost certain that not fewer than six hundred visitors will be in the city this evening and Saturday.

The citizens of Ada are unusually interested in the meet this time, as the local high school has a strong team entered. The Roff team, too, is expected to prove one of the strong organizations of the entire district. George Washington, a Roff youngster, is expected to star, and many of the local posters are picking him for the all-round athlete. His showing in the county meet at Roff last Saturday indicates that he will be among the big men.

While past records are expected to be smashed at the meet this time, the participants must hang up some great records to beat past feats. The records for the past follow:

100-Yard Dash—Evans, Maud, 10 sec., 1915.
220-Yard Dash—Outrey, Holdenville, 23 sec., 1916.
440-Yard Dash—Welborn, Konawa, 57 sec., 1914.

The first preliminary in baseball was played between Sulphur and Roff, the first named winning by a score of 13 to 9. A game between Okmulgee and Holdenville was in progress at the time the first half of a basketball game between Sulphur and Roff had been played with a score of 13 to 12 in favor of Sulphur.

Dan Rogers, Sr., entered a plea of guilty in county court to a charge of vagrancy filed some months ago and was fined $10 and costs.

SAYS CRIPPLING GERMANY WILL HURT ENGLAND

By the Associated Press

LONDON, April 18.—It will be impossible to cripple Germany without to some extent crippling British trade, Charles S. Addis, a director of the Bank of England, told the Institute of Bankers recently. "To secure the maximum indemnity for the minimum of injury to the trade of the country," he said, "it would be necessary to afford Germany free access to raw material and freedom to arrange her own mode to paying the indemnity. This would be for a moderate amount well within her taxable capacity and on such terms as to keep alive in the debtors the hope of redemption within a reasonable time."

"A crippled Germany could not pay a penal indemnity and to suppose that in crippling a nation you thereby gain a guarantee of continuous peace is chimerical. The only guarantee of peace is that, having beaten the enemy, you should be ready to fight him again whenever he likes."

"The idea of Germany being able to pay, under any circumstances the amount of $120,000,000,000, at which the expenditure of the Allies was estimated, should be dismissed as impracticable."
